

The Journal of Public Economic Theory at Ten Years old*

By

John P. Conley

Myrna Wooders

Vanderbilt University

Vanderbilt University

January 2009

Abstract

Thanks.

* Published as: John P. Conley and Myrna Wooders (2009) “The Journal of Public Economic Theory at Ten Years Old” Journal of Public Economic Theory, Vol. 10, pp. 1-5 (Editorial Comment)

Department of Economics, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN 37235, j.p.conley@vanderbilt.edu

Department of Economics, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN 37235, myrna.wooders@vanderbilt.edu

The Journal of Public Economic Theory and the Association for Public Economic Theory were founded in 1997. Their mission was two fold: First, to raise the profile of theoretical work in public economics in hopes that increasing the conversation between theorists and empiricists would increase the relevance of the theory and quality of the empirical work. Second, to connect economic theorists and public economists in hopes of encouraging new research from synergistic interactions.

To whatever extent we have made progress on these two fronts, the credit belongs to the many people who have contributed to the Journal and to the Association for Public Economic Theory (APET). Since its founding, the Journal has grown from 400 pages to 1000 pages and from four to six issues per year. In addition, the journal has just been accepted into the Social Science Citation Index. The Journal will be moving to a completely electronic editorial system in the next few months.

Meeting face to face with other researchers with similar interests and exchanging views and ideas is an exciting and important component of scholarship. APET, with its PET conferences, aims to facilitate such exchanges. APET now has about 400 members and the PET meetings, which at this point are held every year, typically attract more than 200 people in places ranging from Paris to Hanoi, and Tuscaloosa to Istanbul. You can see news of our upcoming meetings at www.APET.org

We would like to take this opportunity to formally thank a few of the many people to whom JPET and APET are indebted.

Let us begin by thanking the members of the JPET editorial board who put countless hours into the task of finding referees, reading papers themselves and writing reports, and keeping the editorial process moving along.

Advisory Editors

Roger Guesnerie
Leonid Hurwicz
John Ledyard

James Mirrlees
Reinhard Selten
Martin Shubik

Associate Editors

Rabah Amir
Salvador Barbera
Ted Bergstrom
Marcus Berliant
Francis Bloch
Raouf Boucekkine
Alessandra Casella
Parkash Chander
Luis Corchon

Helmuth Cremer
Claude d'Aspremont
Charles de Bartoleme
Amrita Dhillon
Dennis Epple
Roger Farmer
Firouz Gahvari
Rod Garratt
Piero Gottardi

Martin Hellwig
Michael Kaganovich
Hubert Kempf
Hideo Konishi
Roger Lagunoff
Michel le Breton
Cuong Le Van
Akihiko Matsui
Flavio Menezes
Paulo Monteiro
Gareth Myles
Frank H. Page, Jr.
Pierre Pestieau

Richard Romano
Efraim Sadka
Rajiv Sethi
Joaquim Silvestre
Alain Trannoy
Stephen Turnovsky
Anne van den Nouweland
Oscar Volig
Mark Walker
Shlomo Weber
David Wildasin
John Wilson

We would also like to thank the previous members of the editorial board who gave yeoman service and have now moved on to contribute further to our profession in other ways.

Former Associate Editors:

James Andreoni
Richard Arnott
Jeffrey Banks
Robert Becker
Charles Blackorby
Robin Boadway
Jan Brueckner
Dimitrios Diamantaras
Roger Guesnerie
Peter Hammond
Vernon Henderson
Seppo Honkapohja
Matthew Jackson
Mamoru Kaneko
Ali Khan

Jean-Jacques Laffont
Herve Moulin
Thomas Nechyba
Scott Page
Phillip Reny
Arthur Robson
Todd Sandler
David Schmeidler
Martin Shubik
Leigh Tesfatsion
Stef Tijs
John Weymark
Simon Wilkie
Rajiv Vohra

The Journal could not have been successful without APET and the PET meetings that were organized under its sponsorship. We would first like to thank Cuong Le Van and Frank Page for their work on the executive of APET. We would also like to especially acknowledge the generous efforts of the main organizers of the PET conferences and the financial and in-kind contributions of the universities at which they were held, and the keynote speakers:

PET99: University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Local Organizer

Frank Page

Keynote Speaker

Roger Guesnerie

Leo Hurwicz

Reinhard Selten

PET2000: University of Warwick

Local Organizer

Myrna Wooders

Local Organizers

Claude D' Aspremont

Ted Bergstrom

Tim Besley

Roger Gordon

Roger Guesnerie

Leo Hurwicz

Michael Keen

John Ledyard

Jacques Thisse

PET02: University of Paris 1

Local Organizers

Bernard Cornet

Hubert Kempf

Cuong Le Van

Myrna Wooders

Keynote Speakers

Alan Auerbach

Alain Duchâteau

Jean-Jacques Laffont

John Weymark

PET03: Duke University

Local Organizer

Thomas Nechyba

Keynote Speakers

Peter Diamond

James Poterba

Hugo Sonnenschein

PET04: University of Peking,

Local Organizers

Myrna Wooders

Weiyang Zhang

Shanli Zho

Hang-Fu Zu

Keynote Speakers

James Heckman

Dan McFadden

James Mirrlees

PET05: Universités d'Aix-Marseille II et III

Local Organizers

Nicolas Gravel

Alain Trannoy

Keynote Speakers

Avinash Dixit

Matthew Jackson

John Roemer

PET06: New Economic University, Hanoi

Local Organizers

Cuong Le Van

Myrna Wooders

Keynote Speakers

Robert Aumann

Roger Guesnerie

Steven Turnovsky

PET07: Vanderbilt University

Local Organizers

John Conley

Keynote Speakers

Douglas Bernheim

Robin Boadway

Alessandro Lizzeri

We would also like to announce three more PET conferences and thank the organizers for volunteering and for the work they have already done and for their future efforts for these events:

PET08: Seoul National University

Local Organizers

Youngsub Chun

Seong-Lin Na

PET09: University of Galway

Local Organizer

Ashley Piggins

PET10: Bogazici University

Local Organizer

Unal Zenginobuz

We would be remiss if we did not thank the universities who have donated administrative and secretarial resources to running the JPET editorial office and especially to the journal secretaries who have put in so many hours keeping the ship together.

The University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

Miki Naoko, JPET Secretary

Vanderbilt University

Cathy Zebron, JPET Secretary

Warwick University

Fiona Brown, JPET Secretary

Last, and most importantly, we would like to offer our most sincere thanks to the authors who have submitted papers, the referees who have given so very generously of their time reviewing this work, to the readers and subscribers, and to all the people who have taken the trouble to share their work at the PET conferences over the years. With your help, we look forward to continuing and accelerating advances in public economic theory in the years to come